NEWS AND GOSSIP.

20 After June, 1848, there were 11,003 persons transported from France, mostly to Al-giers, of whom all but 133 have died or been suffered to return—a portion of the remainder have become settled resident in that colony. After December, 1851, there were 20,884 persons transported, the majority to Algiers, but partly to Cayenne and Corsica, of whom 1,708 remain in those countries. After Orsini's bombshell exploded, the government transported 428 persons, of whom 219 have not yet been let back. Of this multitude of 38,215 persons, there are said to remain untouched by imperial grace up to the 16th of last August, and spared from death, 1,927 persons.

The Coos (N. H.) Republican says, on Thursday and Friday the White Mountains were covered with snow, apparently as fully as in January, and the occupants of the Tip-Top and Summit Houses, descending Mount Washington on Friday, found snow to the depth of six inches, with drifts of considerable magnitude. Throughout Thursday the air was piercing cold, like the latter part of November. old residents say that never since 1816 and 1817 has there been weather of equal severity at so early a period in the season.

A young lady, aged about sixteen, of considerable intelligence and propossessing ap-pearance, is now residing with the Sheriff of Ottowa County, Iil., preparatory to her re-moval to the lunatic asylum. She became insane from viewing the aurora boreallis a short time ago, which she was induced to believe betokened the approaching end of the world.

The strike of the four thousand coaldiggers in the Pennsylvania mining district has resulted unfavorably for them. At a meeting of the coal-masters, held at McKeesport last week, resolutions were adopted which pledge the owners to employ no man who be-longed to the "Equal Justice" societies established by the strikers. It was also deter-mined to raise subscriptions for the assistance and protection of such miners as are willing to return to work.

The two hundred and fifth anniversary of the settlement of the town of Chelmsford, Mass., was observed last Thursday by the dedication of a granite monument, erected to the memory of those patriots of the town who lost their lives in the cause of independence. The exercises consisted of an address by Dr. Willard Parker, of New York, and a processitiant of the cause of the town who was the cause of the ca sion and dinner, at which sentiments were given and appropriate speeches made.

A company of Germans, styling them-selves the "Lange Pipen Company," and headed by a band of music, marched in platoon through New York City on Thursday. They did not shoulder "shooting irons" of any description, but smoked pipes with stems two or three feet long. A very ludicrous sight they were. They went to Staten Island for target shooting exercise.

Near Watertown, Jefferson County, N. Y., upward of three thousand persons are now employed picking hops. Many of those are from Utica, Rome, and other remote portions of that State, attracted by the good pay and pleasant associations of the hop-yard. The c.enings are devoted to dancing and other amusements.

Shields, the Niagara Falls jumper, who is reported to have been drowned while swimming out to test the currents, was attended by only two persons—a fact which has caused the suspicion that he has not been drowned at all, but that the report has been got up to account for his not jumping.

Madame Poitevin, the baileon woman, made an ascension at Rouen, lately, accompanied in the ar by her assistant, in the costume of Sancho Panza, white below was suspended a donkey, mounted by a new Dulcinea del Teboso, whose white toilet was visible when the balloon itself could hardly be perceived. The descent was effected in safety.

Garibaldi has issued a proclamation threatening to shoot any of his men who venture to profess themselves Mazzinians, Re-publicans, or even Garibaldius. As the Gen-eral is known to be a man of his word, there is no doubt his threat will produce a sensation.

Terrible Suffering on the Plains-Two Men Subsisting on Grasshoppers and Buffale Bones.

We find the following in the Manhattan

(Kansas) Express: News recently reached Fort Riley, by two soldiers who came in on express duty from Prairie-Dog Creek, that two men who had started for Pike's Peak were lying in a starving condition at one of the distant unoccupied stations of the late express company of Jones & Russell. The soldiers reported that if adequate means were sent to their relief, it was still possible that they might be found alive, although they were left in a delirious and leeble condition. First Lieutenant Charles Griffin and two others were immediately dispatched with what limited means the Quarter-master at the post could furnish. The philanthropic mission reached its destination on the third day. Both father and son were found even in a worse condition than represented. They had been at the station eight days before they were relieved by the small quantity of tea, bacon and bread that the Sergeant, who first discovered them, could spare, who gave strict injunctions to eat very sparingly, else death would ensue—they being so weak that they could scarcely stand up without holding on to the door.

It appears that they had lived on grasshoppers and mildowed corn picked up from among the excrements left by the animals which had fed at the station. Providentially, a few young shoots of corn were found to be springing up about the station, and a dried skull of a baffalo had been thrown aside. They caught from twenty to thirty grasshoppers every morning while the dew was still on the grass, until they became too faint to procure this scanty supply of food, which they had to husband, in order to make a stew of grasshopper, buffalo hide and young corn-stalks, in a small tin-cup, to eat at night, to promote sleep and prevent delirium. Thus they sustained life until they obtained the cupful of tea, (about a quarter of a pound,) two loaves of bread and a pound or two of bacon, left by the Sergeant. When found by Mr. Griffin, they were too debilitated to be immediately moved. He accordingly left private Machler to take care of them, and went on another day's ride to repair his wagon, which had been broken at the camp at Prairie-

Dog Creek.

The father states that his name is Mr. W. Frost, that he is fifty years old, and that his son Thomas Frost, who was with him, is seventeen years old, the eldest of six children—the five others behind at Pottsville, Pennsylvania. He is a shoemaker by trade. He started with $100, having left $60 with his wife. He paid his fare to Leavenworth City, from whence he started on foot.

Interesting to Commercial Men.

A suit of the Atlantic Bank of New York, gainst the Paterson Manufacturing Company, on trial in the Passaic, (N. J.) Circuit Court, for a week past, terminated on Tuesday in a vordiet for the plaintiffs for the full amount claimed. The Trenton American says:

This action, one of much interest to the commercial community, has settled, according to the charge of the Judge, that negotiable paper issued by a corporation for accommodation is, in the hands of a bona fide holder for value, without notice of its peculiar character, valid. In this case, the President of the Paterson Manufacturing Company loaned, as the defend-ants allege, to a friend in New York, for the accommodation of the latter, the checks of the company to a very large amount, some $50,000. This paper, made payable to the President's individual order, and indorsed by him. was passed for full value to the Atlantic Bank in without notice of the fact that it was accommolation paper, and that as these checks were made payable at a future day, and the words acceptance waived" were written across their face, any holder would have had legal notice of their character. The court charged the jury that even if the company had no power to issue the paper, yet, if that fact did not appear upon its face, that checks in the hands of bona fide holder, without actual notice, are good against the company.

The Females of the French Army.

We believe there is no army in Europe, save that of France, which possesses an Ama-zonian rear-guard—a rear-guard, however, only in so far that it is the duty of those who compose it to follow the battalions to which by are more immediately attached.

To every battalion of the French army, both cavalry and infantry, are attached a certain number of cantinieres and vivandieres, in accordance with the permission of the command-ing officer. Some regiments have only three, others four; while the regiments of Zouaves and Chassours can boast of as many as six. Whether the ladies are particularly attached to whether the indies are particularly account to the costnine, or to the gallant bearing of the men who compose these regiments, we are unable to say. These, for the most part well-conducted and brave women, are generally the wives of men belonging to the regiment or regiments to which they are more immediately

The duty of the cantinieres is similar to that of the helder of a canteen when the regiment of the helder of a canteen when the regiment is in barracks or quarters. When before an enemy in the field, they supply the men with spirits, wine, tobacco, and occasionally luxuries in the way of food, and not unfrequently pro-vide a table for the officers; whereas the vivan-diere follows the regiment (as do the cantinieres also) on the line of march, and even to the battle-field, where, often under fire, they present the refreshing cup of wine, or sea de vie, from the little keg swung across their shoulders, to the parched lips of the wounded or dying soldier. In one instance during the Crimean war, a vivandiere who was standing by the side of a wounded soldier of the corps to which she belonged is known to have reloaded the firelock which had fallen from his hands, and fired on the retreating foe.

Among the men of the regiments to which the vivandleres are immediately attached it is held as a point of honor to protect them from insult and danger; while they, on their part, are ever ready to sacrifice their own comforts, and at times even their lives, to succor a wounded comrade, and they regard every man of the regiment as a comrade.

TO PREVENT CATS KILLING CHICKENS, &C .-Miss Harriet Martineau, in the new London paper, Oace a Week, is publishing a very interesting series of sketches, entitled, "Our Farm of Two Acres," in one of which sketches she gives the following as a sure preventive against the killing of chickens or birds by cats:

When a cat is seen to catch a chicken, tic it round her neck and make her wear it for two or three days. Fasten it securely, for she will make incredible efforts to get rid of it. Be firm for that time and the cat is cured. she will never again desire to touch a bird. This is what we do with our cats, and what we recommend to our neighbors; and when they try the experiment, they and their pets are secure from reproach and danger hence-forth. Wild, homeless, hungry, ragged, savage cats are more difficult to catch; but A man's comfort is like his eigar—if he they are outlaws, and may be shot with the cannot get it at home, he will go in search of it certainty that all the neighbors will be classwhere.

DREADFUL HURRICANE-TWENTY HOUSES DE- LATEST BY TELEGRAPH MOLIBHED .- The Wilmington (N. C.) Herald of of the 23d inst. says:

A friend writes us from Rockingham the particulars of a dreadful hurricane which swept over Richmond County and the upper part of Marlboro' District, S. C., on the 16th inst. The destruction of dwellings, crops, &c., appears to have been terrible, and it is feared one or two lives have been lost. So far as heard from, twenty houses are reported as com-pletely blown down; while the number un-roofed and otherwise damaged is almost unac-countable. A kitchen in Marlboro', in which were four negroes, was blown clear away, with-out hurting the negroes. The corn blown out of the field into the swamps, is represented as being many thousand bushels. Pine trees two being many thousand busness. Fine the part and three feet in diameter were taken up by the roots and carried two and three hu yards. Light wood stumps in the open fields were torn up and blown away. In fact, such a wind has never been experienced in that sec-

A BEAUTIFUL SENTIMENT .- The late eminent Judge, Sir Allen Park, once said at a public neeting in London:

We live in the midst of blessings till we are utterly insensible of their greatness and of the source whence they flow. We speak of our civilization, our arts, our freedom, our laws, and forget entirely how large a share is due to Christianity. Blot Christianity out of the pages of man's history, and what would his laws have been—what his civilization? Christianity is mixed up with our very being and our daily life; there is not a familiar object around us which does not wear a different aspect because the light of Christian love is upon it-not a law which does not owe its trust and gentleness to Christianity—not a custom which can not be traced, in all its hely, healthful parts to the gospel.

WALKING ON THE WATER .- Mr. Hickork performed his feat of walking on the surface of the bay, yesterday afternoon, in presence of nearly four hundred spectators. The perform-ance took place on the north side of the island, a short distance from Moodle's wharf. Shortly after four o'clock Mr. Hickock left the shore in a beat and donned his "boots" in about seven or eight feet of water. By means of a long pole he steadied himself for a second, and then walked off with a brisk step. After walking a few rods, followed by a large number of boats, he turned briskly round, and walked back to the place where the bulk of the spectators were standing. Although his boots have rather a clumsy and unwieldly-like appearance, Mr. Hickock appeared to move about with great facility, and in whatever direction he wished. After marching upon the water for about half an hour, Mr. Hickock approached the land and explained the theory of his invention. He also stated that in a short time he expected to ap-pear in another pair of "koots," in which he would leap into the middle of the bay and walk about where he pleased .- Teronto Globe.

THE PRECIOUS METALS .- The latest reliable investigations as to the disposition of the immense quantities of the precious metals now produced, point to an annual consumption of twelve millions sterling in the arts, seven and a half millions sterling by loss and abra-sion of coins, and ten millions hoarded in Europe and Asia. From England alone the foreign export of silver during seven years, (1851-57,) was forty-six millions sterling, and gold £4,700,000. In 1856, equivalent to sixty millions of dollars; in 1857, to eighty millions of dollars, and from the Mediterranean ports, from ten to fifteen millions of

ARREST OF A ROBBER. -An ex-penitentiary convict, named Charles Allden, was arrested last night by Marshal Coffroth and officers White and Whitzel, upon a charge of robbing a gardner near Zanesville of four hundred dollars in silver, during the late State Fair. Allden, who was discharged from the penitentiary about three weeks ago, confessed having assisted in the robbery and spont his share of the plunder, amounting to about two hundred dollars, in this city since Saturday last. Fortysix dollars of the stolen money were found in his possession. He appears to have lived like a prince during the brief period allowed him, and said that he only regretted being arrested before he could spend all his funds among the gay associates of either sex he found in this ity. He was locked up in the station-house to await orders from Zanesville .- Columbu

The celebrated physiologist, Magendie, says that medicine is a great humbug. He knows nothing about it and knows of nobedy who does. He says that when he was physician at the Hotel Dieu, 3,000 to 4,000 patients passed through his hands every year. These he divided into classes. With the first he followed the regular dispensary practice, to the lowed the regular dispensary practice; to the other he gave bread pills and colored water. Sometimes he created a third division, to whom he gave nothing all, and though they fretted, and often made themselves sick because they could not get medicine, they always got well. There was little mortality among those who had the bread pills and colored water, and the mortality was always greatest among those carefully drugged according to the dispensary. A hard dose this to those who take comfort in being killed according to scientific principles.

Letters from Goneva, Switzerland, announce the arrival in that city of one of the favorite Sultanas of Abdul Medjid, and a mufavorite Sultanas of Abdul Medjid, and a mu-sician, with whom she cloped. The Sultana has the odd name of Sarsafras. She is a young and beautiful Circassian, who lately was in the harem of the Sultan. She was much prized, and was covered with presents. As she had a charming voice, she took singing lessons from a director of the music of the palace, an Italian named Guatelli. One day, when out driving, she entered a house leading to the Bosphorus and disappeared with the musician, driving, she entered a house leading to the Bosphorus and disappeared with the musician, not forgetting the diamonds and other riches which she possessed through the munificence of Abdul Medjid. He was sorely cut by her ingratitude. Perhaps she, whom he called the pearl of his seraglio, will appear some time upon the boards of the French or Italian opera.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT .- An inebriated Welshman, named Lewis, was precipitated to the bottom of a thirty-foot well, on the premises of Mr. Cadwallader, on Broad-street, yesterday, by the breaking of the rope by which Lewis was being lowered to clean out the well. Assistance was immediately rendered, and the man drawn to the top, when it was discovered that a severe cut had been inflicted on his had, and the upper part of his hady apparently. head, and the upper part of his body apparently paralyzed. Excellent medical treatment was procured, and the unfortunate man will probably recover .- Columbus Journal, 27th.

A PERFECT LAWYER.—An English writer of the seventeenth century has given a sketch of "the character of a perfect lawyer." The concluding sentence of the eulogy is as follows:

In a word, while he lives, he is the delight of the court, the ornament of the bar, the glory of his profession, the patron of innocence, the upholder of right, the securge of oppression, the terror of deceit and the oracle of his country; when death calls him to the bar of heaven by a habeas corpus cum causes, finds the judge his advocate, non-suits the devil, obtains a liberate from all infirmities, and continues still one of the long robes in glory. A PERFECT LAWYER .- An English writer of

Jo. Cose defines the exact hight of a young lady's ambition to be two little feet.

The correspondent of the New York Herald ays: I am informed that some additional prepo sitions to those already before our Government have recently been submitted by Mexico, in regard to the settlement of claims, and for tection, or the manner of protecting the Transit

Among the proposed stipulations to be con-sidered by Secretary Cass and the Mexican Minister is an important one in relation to the settlement of claims of citizens of the United States upon Mexico, which requires that the claims be adjudicated by four commissioners, two to be appointed by the President of each government, and an umpire, to be selected by the commissioners, or in case of their lected by the commissioners, or in case of their disagreement by the Secretary of State and the Mexican Minister, and the amount of such adjudicated claims over the $2,000,000 which the treaty has provided for the payment of them is to be settled by ten annual payments of equal amount, with interest at six per cent. until paid, bends to be given for the amount, which will be receivable by the Mexican Government for any export or import dues to that governfor any export or import dues to that govern-

It is proposed also to obviate the objections of the Mexican Government to our proposition for the protection of the transit routes, by the appointment of a commissioner by each government to reside at suitable locations, who in ease of disturbance of the peace upon any route, are to make the necessary demands of the Mexican authority for troops which, if disregarded for a period of days, may be made upon the nearest land or naval forces of the United States, who, after giving proper notice to the commissioner, or if he be absent, to the nearest local authority, shall proceed to the scene of disturbance and quell it. As an evidence of the good feeling entertained by the Liberal Govern-ment of Mexico toward citizens of the United States, President Jaurez has extended to a citizen of New Jersey valuable mining facil-ities in the State Sinaloa, which were to expire on the 1st of October next, for two years longer.

Disease of the Isabella.

A failure of the grape crop annoys our citizens almost as much as a general potate rot would, for the reason that almost all house-holders train a vine in their rear yard upon which, in the various employments of pruning the sticks, trimming the side-shoots, crushing the caterpillars and fumigating the insects that infest it, they spend a great many happy hours of the growing season, and hang about their vine rich clusters of homely pleasure. The vine pays for itself, though there should be vine pays for itself, though there should be never an edible atom of fruit forthcoming. When the purple clusters do ripen fair and plump, silver would scarcely outweigh their value in the eyes of those who have watched the growth of every leaf, the twining of each tendril and shading of each grape. The vines of New York and Brooklyn generally escaped the frosts of June, which, in many parts of the State, and of Michigan, Ohio and the Northwest, cut off all prospects of a crop. But there is no denying that the Isabella, which for its hardiness has long been a favorite in these parts, is diseased. parts, is diseased.

Some young vines in well-sheltered cor-ners have even this year produced hand-somely, but as a general thing, the lower leaves have turned brown and are falling leaves have turned brown and are falling prematurely, leaving the clusters to ripen unevenly, or not at all. Close pruning, upon which this effect was charged by many last year, is not the cause; for those which have been allowed to run riot in luxuriance of foliage present no more promising appearance than those which were most unsparingly trimmed back. At the last meeting of the Farmers' Club the subject was talked over, and in strains that made the owners of a house, lot and grapevine feel decidedly melanchely. But they who sit under their own vine, better still rejoice in its shades, and by no means be tempted to root out their Isabellas for the present. No one pretends to say whether the disease may not be a temperary ailment, for which it will recover in another year. At the worst a tolerable crop can be raised with care, and no other species of vine promises to do enough better to justify its hasty adontion in place of our triad faof vine promises to do enough better to justify its hasty adoption in place of our tried fa-vorite,—New York Times.

TI is asserted that the nurse of the young ladies of a noble English family, the Rochedales, who rendered her account annually for little nursery et ceteras, among other things put down the modest sum of three hun-dred and fifty dollars for brandy to sponge the children with.

The Worcester (Mass.) Spy says that four ladies and a child were poisoned on Thursday last, it is supposed, by the cheese which they had eaten at the house of a friend in Winchendon, Mass. They all vemited severely; some were very sick, and one scarcely survived. The chesse was made in Vermont.
